Mick - 30399 - M2-4A

Dear Mick,

You've shared a lot of great things about yourself—I can see you're proud of your English, your drawing, and how you help your mom at home. That's wonderful that you can find a job with your English skills and that you enjoy gaming and art. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Verb tense consistency: Keep your verbs in the same tense throughout. You wrote "because I went to school and study" but it should be "because I went to school and studied."
- Adverb usage: Use 'well' to describe how you do an action, not 'good'. You wrote "I can play games pretty good" but it should be "I can play games pretty well."
- Spelling: Check the spelling of common words. You wrote "help my mom at home with waching the dishes" but it should be "help my mom at home with washing the dishes."

The solid line in the chart below shows the B1 target error rate (12%). Your goal is to keep your error rate below this line. The chart tracks your progress over time.

Your Writing with Corrections

I scanned your writing for errors and underlined the corrections below. Carefully comparing the corrected and original versions will help you become more aware of common mistakes and improve your writing skills.

What I like about myself: I like that I can speak English, and can find a job if needed because I went to school and studied. I can play games pretty well and have beaten a lot. I like drawing; I think I draw well. I help my mom at home with washing the dishes and help with work like lifting heavy stuff when needed, and sometimes putting things in place. I usually play games at home, and sometimes my family goes out.

Arlong - 30444 - M2-4A

Dear Arlong,

I really like how you described your curiosity and love for learning new things. It's wonderful that you connect your intelligence to both your own research and your dad's early lessons. That shows real self-awareness and gratitude. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Spelling: Check the spelling of words you are unsure about. You wrote "intellegence" but it should be "intelligence."
- Verb tense consistency: Use the correct past participle form after 'have' or 'haven't'. You wrote "I haven't fall" but it should be "I haven't fallen."
- Article usage: Use 'a' before singular nouns like '3.5' when saying a grade or score. You wrote "below 3.5" but it should be "below a 3.5."

Your Writing with Corrections

I scanned your writing for errors and underlined the corrections below. Carefully comparing the corrected and original versions will help you become more aware of common mistakes and improve your writing skills.

I like my intelligence. Every midterm and final test, I haven't fallen below a 3.5, and I almost got a 4 every time. I don't even understand why or how, but it is what it is. Maybe it is from me, myself, researching and finding answers to every question I could ever think of, or from my dad, who taught me about the world when I was very little. I get bored very fast too, so I always find something new: new work, a new hobby, as I found myself falling in love with hiking and trekking, along with travelling.

Aton - 30570 - M2-4A

Dear Aton,

I really like how you wrote about your favorite activities—sports and games. It's great that you enjoy playing badminton with your friends and that you also love games like Minecraft and Roblox. Your positive attitude comes through when you say you're a good guy and confident. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Spelling: Check the spelling of words you are unsure about. You wrote "batminton" but it should be "badminton."
- Preposition usage: Use 'on' before days of the week. You wrote "at soturday" but it should be "on Saturday."
- Verb tense consistency: Use the same verb tense throughout a sentence or paragraph. You wrote "I liked it because its fun" but it should be "I like it because it's fun."

Your Writing with Corrections

I scanned your writing for errors and underlined the corrections below. Carefully comparing the corrected and original versions will help you become more aware of common mistakes and improve your writing skills.

There are 2 things that I like. I like sport and games. I always play badminton on Saturday. I usually play it with my friends. I like it because it's fun and it can be played with others; it's not a one-person sport. I play games every day with my friend group. I play Valorant, Minecraft, and Roblox. I like games because they are fun and interesting. The thing that I like most about me is my behavior because I am a good guy and confident.

Mita - 30584 - M2-4A

Dear Mita,

I really like how you described being a good friend to someone who is sad. It's clear that you care about your friend and want to help her feel better. The example you gave about inviting her to play games is very thoughtful and kind. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Article usage: Use 'a' or 'the' before nouns when talking about one thing. You wrote "I'm good friend" but it should be "I'm a good friend."
- Verb tense consistency: Keep your verbs in the same tense throughout. You wrote "When my friend feel happy" but it should be "When my friend feels happy."
- Missing verb in a sentence: Make sure every sentence has a main verb. You wrote "I happy too" but it should be "I feel happy too."

Your Writing with Corrections

Boss - 32376 - M2-4A

Dear Boss,

You did a great job writing about the sports you're good at! I can tell you're really proud of your football skills, especially scoring in every game. It's also cool that you mentioned your ability to speak quickly—that's a special talent. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Article usage: Use 'a' or 'the' before singular countable nouns. You wrote "I can play a lot of different sport" but it should be "I can play a lot of different sports."
- Subject-verb agreement: A singular subject needs a singular verb. You wrote "the sport that treally good to is football" but it should be "the sport that I am really good at is football."
- Spelling: Check your spelling with a dictionary or spell-check. You wrote "I pratice everyday" but it should be "I practice every day."

Your Writing with Corrections

I scanned your writing for errors and underlined the corrections below. Carefully comparing the corrected and original versions will help you become more aware of common mistakes and improve your writing skills.

What I really like about myself is that I can speak very quickly. I also think I can play a lot of different sports. I can play football, basketball, tennis, and swim. I can play a lot of sports, but the sport that I am really good at is football. I practice every day, and when I have a match, I normally score every game. Basketball is the second thing that I am really good at. I can score from the three-point line, but most of the time it doesn't go in.

Dear Plearn,

I really like how you wrote about playing piano and guitar for your family. It's wonderful that you can make music they enjoy listening to. Your writing shows you are thoughtful and care about the people around you. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Article usage: Use 'a' or 'an' before singular countable nouns when they are mentioned for the first time. You wrote "I can play some instrument" but it should be "I can play some instruments."
- Verb tense consistency: Keep your verbs in the same tense throughout a sentence or paragraph. You wrote "Sometimes when I felt bored I'll play guitar" but it should be "Sometimes when I feel bored, I play guitar."
- Subject-verb agreement: A singular subject needs a singular verb. You wrote "My family also like listening to music" but it should be "My family also likes listening to music."

Dear Khan,

I really like how you wrote about respecting everybody. It's wonderful that you learned this from your mom and remember to say good words like hello and goodnight. That shows you have a kind heart. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Spelling and word choice: Use the correct spelling and word order for common phrases. You wrote "The most thig I like about me" but it should be "The thing I like most about myself."
- Verb tense consistency: Use the past tense when talking about something your mom taught you in the past. You wrote "my mom teach me" but it should be "my mom taught me."
- Subject-verb agreement: A singular subject needs a singular verb. You wrote "My mom always tell me" but it should be "My mom always tells me."

Dear Gimji,

I really enjoyed reading about your drawing journey. It's wonderful that you take pride in your art and have been improving since kindergarten. Your reflection on being proud of your first humanoid face is very inspiring. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Capitalization and punctuation: Always capitalize the pronoun 'I' and end sentences with periods. You wrote "The thing that i like the most about me is my drawing skills that ive been practicing since I'm in kindergarden" but it should be "The thing that I like the most about me is my drawing skills, which I have been practicing since I was in kindergarten."
- Verb tense consistency: Keep the same verb tense when describing a past action. You wrote "my drawing skills has change a lot throgh out my life" but it should be "My drawing skills have changed a lot throughout my life."
- Spelling and word choice: Use correct spelling for common words. You wrote "i'm so prood of myself at that time" but it should be "I was so proud of myself at that time."

Dear Porsche,

I really like how you shared something personal about yourself – that you love learning from games. It shows you're curious and thoughtful about what you enjoy. Your main idea is clear and easy to understand. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Pronoun usage: Use 'myself' when referring back to 'me' in the same sentence. You wrote "about me" but it should be "about myself."
- Capitalization: Always capitalize the pronoun 'I'. You wrote "i really like" but it should be "I really like."
- Word choice: Use 'them' to avoid repeating a noun when the meaning is clear. You wrote "learning about the games" but it should be "learning about them."

I love how you shared your personal experience with learning English in an international program. It's wonderful that you've been using English since kindergarten and even changed your phone's software to English—that shows real dedication! Your writing feels genuine and gives me a clear picture of your language journey. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Punctuation with clauses: Use a comma before 'which' when adding extra information in the middle of a sentence. You wrote "What I like most about me is my English I have learned in an International program Since kindergarten untill Grade 6" but it should be "What I like most about me is my English, which I have learned in an international program from kindergarten until Grade 6."
- Spelling: Check the spelling of common words like 'software' and 'chatting'. You wrote "It's ea sier to type in English than type in Thai in my opinion. I even changed my phone's Soft wore to English" but it should be "It's easier to type in English than to type in Thai, in my opinion. I even changed my phone's software to English."
- Preposition usage: Use 'at' when talking about skill level, not 'of'. You wrote "I still think I'm not that good of It" but it should be "I still think I'm not that good at it."

Your writing shows you're thinking deeply about what makes you unique. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Verb tense consistency: Keep your verbs in the same tense throughout. You wrote "she gratulate from school" but it should be "she graduated from school."
- Sentence structure and punctuation: Use periods or semicolons to separate complete thoughts instead of running them together. You wrote "my sister is popular in school she has a tiktok" but it should be "My sister is popular in school; she has a TikTok."
- Word choice and phrasing: Use 'there will not be' instead of 'it will not have' to say something does not exist. You wrote "it will not have anything special in my self" but it should be "there will not be anything special about myself."

Dear Yada,

I love how you shared your passion for music and playing piano – it really comes through in your writing. It's wonderful that you also value your friends and family so much, and that you enjoy meeting new people. You have a very kind and musical heart! To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Spelling errors: Check the spelling of common words to make your writing clear. You wrote “prano” but it should be “piano.”
- Verb form and word choice: Use the correct form of the verb after ‘be’ (am/is/are) and choose the right adjective or verb form. You wrote “Im very interest about music so, i think whem im play piano its very relax” but it should be “I am very interested in music, so I think when I play piano, it is very relaxing.”
- Article usage: Use ‘a’ or ‘the’ before countable nouns when needed. You wrote “I like tattoo colour band” but it should be “I like the band Tattoo Colour.”

Writing Accuracy Feedback Report

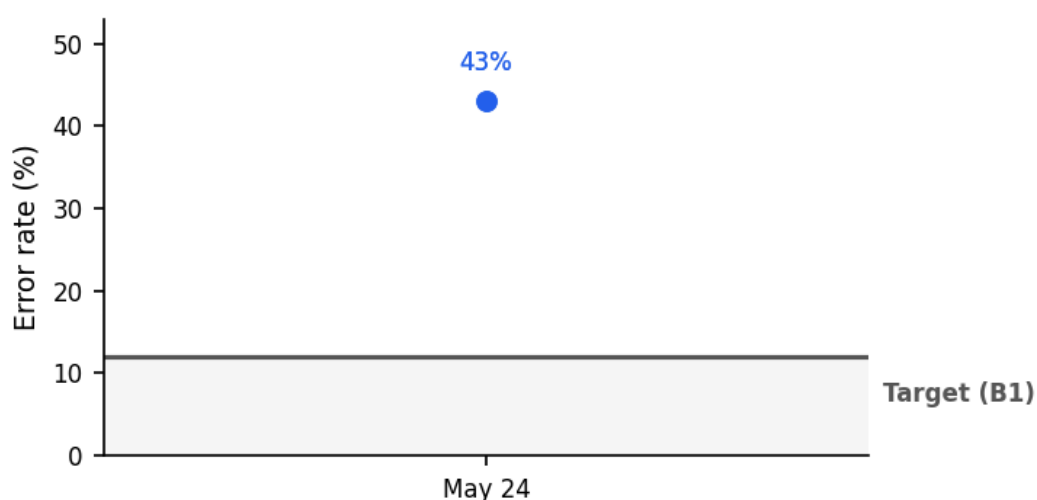

Pang Pang - 36127 - M2-4A

Dear Pang Pang,

I really like how you wrote about your sense of humor and your talking skills. It's wonderful that you feel more confident when talking to strangers now. You have a clear idea of what you like about yourself, and that's great. To improve even further, try to be aware of the following errors which I noticed in your work.

- Subject-verb agreement: A singular subject needs a singular verb. You wrote "it make my friend" but it should be "It makes my friends."
- Verb tense consistency: Keep your verbs in the same tense throughout. You wrote "it impove alot from before" but it should be "It has improved a lot from before."
- Capitalization: Capitalize the first word of a sentence and proper nouns. You wrote "Stranger" but it should be "strangers."
